Advanced Internet Intelligence & Online Investigations Training

March 19-20, 2020 | Toronto, Ontario

In today's information-based economy, online research and analysis skills are essential requirements at all levels of an organization, in both the public and private sectors.

Aimed at managers, front-line investigators, researchers, and analysts alike, this advanced two-day training program will provide detailed instruction on effectively using the internet as an Open Source Intelligence (OSINT), research, and investigation tool.

Demonstrating advanced search and analysis techniques for mining Web-based information, this comprehensive training program will examine a number of case studies that will focus on highlighting and correcting potential pitfalls that can compromise investigative or intelligence gathering efforts. As an additional training component, essential privacy tools for ensuring data, communication, and online security will be demonstrated, as well as techniques being used by the criminal element to conceal their identity, location, and illegal behaviour.

Learn how to generate relevant, timely, and actionable intelligence from internet sources to investigate criminal activity, assess and manage risk, maximize opportunities, assure compliance, manage reputation, and much more. This highly-acclaimed advanced OSINT training program will teach you how to find better online information, in less time, at less cost, with less risk™.

TECHNICAL REQUIREMENTS

Attendees are required to bring a laptop capable of accessing the internet and installing/downloading basic software to the course.

Attendees can be provided with a list of software to be downloaded in advance of the course upon request.

I attended this two-day course and found it to be stimulating, useful, and presented in an easy-to-understand manner. I came away surprised at how much of our online world is unknown and uncharted. The course presented tools to help delve into the vital ocean of information. What made the course even more worth the time and resource was the expertise of the presenter. I highly recommend the course to any investigator who wants to be at the top of their game. - P.S.
